DRY CONDITION BRINGS FIRE BAN IN NATIONAL FOREST

Because of the dry conditions which exist in the woodlands, no burning permits are presently being issued for fires in the White Mountain National Forest.

Officials at the Forest Ranger Station in Bethel have stated that the ban will not be lifted until the area receives a significant amount of rainfall. The showers received Tuesday and Wednesday of this week provided very little relief from the excessive dryness.

Other parts of Maine are also experiencing similar conditions, prohibiting camp fires in many areas.

BETHEL CONCERN AWARDED ANDOVER ROAD PROJECT

The successful bid was $99,891.50. Other bidders on the project were Frank Rossi & Sons, Inc., Gardiner, $108,787.50; and The Bridge Construction Corp., Augusta, $118,536.75.

AUCTION HELD AT BROAD ST. HOME LAST SATURDAY

An auction was held at the Durell home on Broad Street, Bethel, last Saturday. Many attended, some just to look on and listen, others to take advantage of the opportunity to bid on antiques up for sale. A sign on the building now indicates that the property is up for sale. The following is an excerpt concerning Dr. Moses Mason taken from Lapham's History of the Town of Bethel: "He commenced practice (of medicine) at Bethel Hill in Eighteen hundred and thirteen. He built a fine man-a-on house facing the common, upon land which, when he commenced practice was a swamp."

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

The owner of the land where old abandoned motor vehicles are located will be held responsible for their removal. Each time we have at tempted to clear the highways of these unsightly nuisances we have been confronted with the problem of determining ownership, as many of the vehicles change owners many times while remaining in one place. No one wishes to claim ownership once they become junk.

A legal opinion has been obtained on the subject which states we do not have to notify the land owner of possible court action if these vehicles are not removed, but we feel as a courtesy we will send notices to all except possibly those who continually violate the law.

As soon as work on the tax bills is completed, which will be in the next week or two, a much more concentrated effort will be started to have the roadsides cleaned. The promise to remove a vehicle or vehicles will not be acknowledged as experience has proved this is a way of avoiding any action being taken. A person in violation will be notified, given ample time to correct the situation and served a summons to appear in court if he does not comply.

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Collie Morgan, Correspondent —

There was a day not long ago that I wandered through the first, hornlocks, and pines, to catch the forest's breath.

A gentle air of air was there as I began my climb into the groves where the sunlight filtered through.

Standing at the entrance near the roadside was the elderberry bush with its spreading flower-clusters surrounded and topped with bees; one continuous hum and hum and hum at their work which is never done.

With pond behind me blue table cloth, lily cups, and pads for plates I set out on a section of Noyes Mountain which I had not traveled.

At my left the partridge vine was abundant. That little evergreen plant fulfills its mission of adorning a small portion of the earth to which it finds itself rooted. I was too late to enjoy the delicious fragrance from the delicate sister blossoms which are its glory.

Above, the sky was so blue!

Here I perched on a rock to watch the distant clouds playing on the horizon. Sometimes they rolled up in great masses with the baby clouds breaking away to run alone while at other times they would just swing above the mountains waiting adventure.

I moved on and around me there was a certain harmonious blending of cheerfulness and gloom as I observed peculiarities of light and shade seldom seen in deciduous growth, the canopy overhead, is more closely woven to that whenever an opening occurs the light pours in with distinct outlines and shadows similar to those shining into a dark room through a part open shutter.

Underneath was a smooth brown carpet, priceless and unsalable yet could be had just for a walk into the lonely wooded hills. My feet crunched into the cushiony duff at every step.

As substantial as a mist, was a bloom of green on the distant hills I could now see as I moved upward.

A musical chirping of established duration came at regular intervals from this side or that; the warblers in chorus.

Just ahead was the stinkiest, a lovely flower but an ugly name which arose from an early custom of applying its leaves to bruises of English peasantry. To me it resembled the lilies of the valley at a distance. There are several kinds and the flowers may be fragrant.

Where a large tree was uprooted I again rested. It had torn a hole in the earth exposing a patch of mineral soil that can now serve as a seed bed for infant trees that prefer such a place for germination.

In the deeper, steeper section there were the "glacial erratics" far from the nearest out crop of matching rocks.

I later followed a stone wall so skillfully built. Probably the stones were carted from the field by ox cart and made into functional fences full of crannies for tiny animals. I went down to the farm section now deserted. Left to a fate that has obliterated them except for cellar holes.

Finally I came to a rim of the valley's bowl, where I sat over so long to enjoy a kind of simple peace. Viewed were the ponds and the rolling hills. All those things we take for granted.

"I like little hills that stand in a friendly farming land . . . little friendly hills that lie like a smile against the sky."

—Edna Jacques

It was hazy time and I thought of the changes from the old moving machine, the hand ax, the hay stacks, wagon, pulley ropes and look to now with the side wheel rake, tractor, boiler and truck.

Down the old road I went to . . .

ward home, passing the tall meadow rue, feathery, graceful, erect and serene in its cool chaste beauty. How lovely the roses were as I passed them, spicy and fragrant! Bee balm or o-gee-choe, as named by the Indian greeted me in the yard where its rounded flower-clusters touch with warmth the shadows of my maples.

I entered the house to find a faint cool wind stirring the curtains; their shadows filmy, billowy, sliding across the shaft of sunlight that was upon the floor.

In a few hours the warm dark crept to the door. There was a dim sweep of trees and stars, a lap of water on shore, and the moon beaming over the wide green valley.

STATE TO CONSTRUCT
NEW INFORMATION CENTER AT KITTERY

The State of Maine will have a new Information Center on Interstate 95 at Kittery in time for the 1972
summer vacation-travel season, according to Representative John E.
Gill, member of the joint legislative committee on Appropriations and Financial Affairs and Chairman of the six member Information Center Building Committee, established by Legislature.

The bill, enacted during the 105th session, provides $175,000 for the "constructing and equipping" of a new Maine Information Center at Kittery to replace the present structure that has been operated by the Maine Publicity Bureau since 1959 at the junction of U. S. Route 1 and the Maine Turnpike.

The new building will be located in a Maine State Highway rest area, 1.4 miles north of the present Information Center, on Interstate 95.

Other members of the Building Committee are: Roger L. Maller, Augusta, Planning and Traffic Engineer; State Highway Commissioner;
Rep. Henry W. Hodgdon, Kittery, York County Legislative Delegation;
Rep. Larry Simpson, East Sebago,
Maine Publicity Bureau; Ira D. Turner, Portland, Maine Hotel Motel Assn. and Robert O. Elliot, Augusta, Director of Vacation Travel, DED.

The Committee has retained the architectural firm of Krumpholtz & Holt of Ellsworth and presently are evaluating design plans for the new building. Four meetings have been held and a time schedule set calling for construction to start early in November of this year.

The new Information Center, when completed in late spring, 1972, will be turned over to the Maine Publicity Bureau. The present MPPB Kittery Information Center building is scheduled for removal after Sept.
12 to make room for the new Interstate Bridge, now under construction, between Kittery, Maine and Portsmouth, N. H.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE
HEAT EXHAUSTION OR SUN-STROKE?

Heat exhaustion and sun-stroke are both caused by the same thing — over-exposure to extreme heat. But, they are very different and you should know how to tell them apart.

With sun-stroke, the skin is very hot and very dry. It is more serious than heat exhaustion and a doctor should be called at once. A cold water bath or sponging, ice on the head, moving to a shaded area and undressing can help until the doctor arrives. With heat exhaustion, the skin is cold and clammy. Move the person to a shady place, keep head lower than the body and loosen tight clothing while waiting for the doctor.

Due to the increased number of prescriptions and in order to keep up good service, it would be to our mutual advantage, if you would please phone in re-fill prescriptions. — Thank you.
